

ABSTRACT

Separating members are provided at both ends in a moving direction of each of workpiece mounting seats of a carriage. Each of the separating members separates an elastic seal blade, 5 which seals an opening portion formed between a side wall portion of a casing body and a top plate, from an outer surface of a workpiece mounting seat.